

Dr. Alan Farber

Periodontist - Long Island, N.Y.

"I have been involved with a few study clubs over the years but there are a number of things I really like about the Spear model. I like the continuity that comes with having regular meetings where everyone progresses together. I like the support and the material that is provided, including the online resources. And I like the way the size of the group encourages free and open discussion.

Spear has done a great job of providing modules that break things down in an easy-to-follow format. It's a very structured, very well organized, sequential way of analyzing complicated cases, which makes it easier to devise good treatment planning solutions.

*I would say that for any specialist, this is a very rewarding experience—the time spent comes back to you. If you're like me and you enjoy helping your referring dentists grow, you'll find this study club to be an invaluable resource.
