

Dr. Jason Bortolussi

Prosthodontist - London, Ont.

"Only four meetings in and I am already seeing results. Doctors I haven't worked with in the past are now referring cases to our office. And those who were already referring regularly are sending even more cases to me because they are seeing more opportunities. So I am definitely seeing the momentum building.

*It's rewarding for everyone. It's a career-awakening for those that maybe have been around awhile and are excited to see things in a different way. And for younger participants, they see there is this wealth of knowledge out there that they just don't get from dental school. So whether it's seeing things differently or seeing things for the first time, everyone gets something valuable from it.

*The principles Spear teaches give you a good foundation for setting up an interdisciplinary approach to a case. I really don't know how else you could do it better. If you don't know these principles you're really just throwing darts in the dark. And it's a great way to show referring dentists how specialists can work together—and with them—to do things they didn't even know were possible.

"It's a career-awakening for those that maybe have been around awhile and are excited to see things in a different way."
